

GRAD PLANS ANNOUNCED

Bill Clifford Named Senior Of The Year

William T. Clifford, sociology major from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has been selected Senior of the Year by a Cowl selection board.

This committee, composed of five members of the editorial staff, chose Clifford as the one senior who most exemplifies the ideal Providence College graduate.

Selection is based on satisfactory scholarship; all-round service to the class, College, and community; and leadership potential as manifested by support of extra-curricular activities.

BILL CLIFFORD

sincerity, personality, and enthusiastic support of all College activities.

During this past year, Bill has served as president of the Carolan Club. He is on the executive committee of the senior honor society, Delta Epsilon Sigma. This past year he was also vice-president of the Friars Club, and a member of both the Veterans Club and the Leonine Society.

Bill was a co-chairman of the junior prom of the class of '59.

Clifford's collegiate honors culminated in the spring, with his selection to this year's "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." In addition to his extra-curricular activities, Bill also served as a student prefect in the Stephen Hall dorm this past school year.

In the future, Clifford hopes to enter the field of personal relations, preferably in the field of child guidance.

Closest runners-up to Clifford were James B. Baker, political science major from Newport, R. I., and Edward J. Keegan, economics major from Upper Darby, Penn.

Boucher Sums Up Senior Class Year As Powers Swears in New Slate

The inaugural meeting of the 1959-60 Student Congress was held in the Guild Hall on Thursday afternoon. This meeting was highlighted by the investiture proceedings with the swearing in of class and Student Congress officers in the presence of the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., who discussed some of the problems of the Congress and its future.

The oath of the Student Congress was administered by senior John Powers to officers-elect Dennis Lovely, Don Bucklin, Robert Appel, Dermot Healey, and class presidents Thomas Grady, Charles McAre, Charles Kelly and their officers.

Boucher Cites Successes

Retiring president Art Boucher reviewed last year's successes, which included the organization of cheerleaders, a Providence blazer, the freshman orientation weekend, and bus trips to the NIT, a filing system and other improvements. He observed, "These have been feathers in our cap and I have the utmost confidence in the Congress members for next (Continued on Page 6)

The Frederick Ungar Publishing Co. of New York City announces the official release of a German text book by Associate Professor Henry M. Rosenwald of the modern language department for Friday, May 22, 1959. The volume, entitled Age of Romanticism is the third in a series of Living German Literature put out by this distinguished publishing house.

For the past two years Dr. Rosenwald has been a member of the language department here at the College. A native of Bavaria, the author has received degrees from both the University of Munich and the University of Milan.

Speaks Four Languages

Before coming to PC, Dr. Rosenwald taught at both Georgetown University and the University of Alabama. He speaks four languages fluently:

DR. HARRY KELLY, COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Baccalaureate Sermon Will Be By Rev. Joseph S. McCormack

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of Providence College will celebrate a solemn Baccalaureate Mass on Sunday, May 31. The Mass will be offered in the War Memorial Grotto.

Garbed in their caps and gowns, the seniors will walk in procession from Aquinas Hall Lounge to the Grotto. The junior class officers will serve as standards and cross bearers.

Parents and guests are invited to attend. In case of inclement weather, the Mass will be celebrated in Alumni Hall.

Commencement activities will continue on Class Day, Monday, June 1. Parents' Night Reception, the day's highlight, will commence with exercises in the War Memorial Grotto at 7:15 p.m.

Included in the reception will be greetings by Father Slavin, presentation of academic awards by Father Lennon, and the class oration by Ralph Daniels. George G. Dittich will deliver an address to the parents and Walter F. Gibbons, Alumni President,

DOCTOR KELLY WILL SPEAK TO GRADUATES

Dr. Harry Kelly, Assistant Director of Scientific Personnel and Education for the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C., will give the address at the 41st annual Commencement of Providence College, Tuesday, June 2.

Dr. Kelly will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

Others to be honored include the presidents of four Rhode Island colleges. Honorary Doctor of Laws Degrees will go to Dr. William C. Galge, president of Rhode Island College of Education; Dr. John R. Frazier, president of Rhode Island School of Design; Dr. Francis P. Horn, president of the University of Rhode Island and the Rt. Rev. Arthur A. Sullivan, Rector of Our Lady of Providence Seminary.

Big Brothers

Tag Day Today

The Providence College Youth Guidance Association, popularly known as the "Big Brothers" will have their final tag day today, Wednesday, May 20, 1959. This collection will benefit the children at the State of Rhode Island Children's Welfare Service and the Children's Outing on Mount Pleasant Avenue.

The proceeds of this collection will provide a picnic for the children on Saturday, May 23, 1959.

"We are completely relying on the funds donated by the PC students. Because of our not being recognized as a College club we have no other source of income except for this collection," said President Thaddeus McGeough.

Elections were held for the first time this year, and McGeough was elected as head, replacing Donald Cummings. Also elected were John Peltier, vice-president; Bill Smith, secretary; and Pat Drewry, treasurer.

CARLIN PLAYERS PRES.

David Carlin will succeed Arthur Boucher as president of the Pyramid Players, it was announced last Saturday, May 16, at the club's banquet.

Other officers are Robert Grathwol, vice-president; William Scanlon, secretary; and Angelo Zuccolo, treasurer.

in the romantic literary period in German literature. Having contacted the publisher of the series, he received a contract to author this text in December of 1957. After a year's work he finished this class text book, prefaced with a dedication to each German student who uses the volume.

Robert Lohmar, now deceased, was the author of the first two books in the series. Dr. Rosenwald saw the practical need for the volume here in German 303-304, which course he had been assigned to teach.

Besides an introduction on this period, the author presents the life and characteristics of each author in various connected biographies, which make up about ten percent of the volume.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR:

The reams of column inches given to PC's play in March's National Invitational Tournament stands as the top news story hereabouts for the year.

From that spectacular tourney appearance probably comes the majority of the other key stories. The upset noising of tall St. Louis, the overwhelming tribute given to the Providence student body in the New York press, the extemporaneous marching in the St. Patrick's Day parade all stand as memorable incidents.

But there were a number of other happenings that snared banner lines in this sheet and others. Father Slavin's attendance at the General Chapter meeting of the Dominican Order in Spain was the Fall's top story coming from PC's administration and faculty.

The much publicized and misunderstood and misquoted suspension of COWL editor Dick DeNoia caused quite a stir.

Basketball bombed into the picture in December with Providence playing its first Madison Square Garden game against St. John's.

The continued construction and naming of the College's fourth major dorm—Raymond Hall—was of note. Ditto the publication of Dr. Thomson's "Why I Am A Catholic."

But the initials NIT were everywhere from February. Joe McHenry's pennings rivalled the Summa and when the Friars finally did make the play Pete McCarthy's summaries were all that were read during that memorable week.

The College was upside down.

One little known incident is the distributing of JOURNALS around 5 a.m. in back of Harkins Hall the morning after the St. Louis triumph. And whatever happened to the third quarter?

So it was a year of news.

Msgr. Sullivan An Alumnus

Msgr. Sullivan was born in Providence, and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Providence College in 1933. He completed his studies for the priesthood at the Sulpician Seminary, Washington, D. C., and was ordained in 1937.

Msgr. Sullivan served as an assistant at St. Brendan's parish, Riverside; Holy Trinity, Central Falls, and the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul until named to the Seminary faculty in 1941.

He became Rector of the Seminary in May of 1953 and on June 14, 1957 was elevated by the late Pope Pius XII to the rank of domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Profiles With Bob Oppel

Philosophy Prof-Father Heath Is Former Submarine Commander

Graying, loquacious, sometimes traveling, national chaplain of the naval submarine veterans of World War II, Rev. Walter Heath, O.P., ambled into Aquinas Hall. A member of the Providence College faculty for a little more than three years, the professor, young in teaching experience, yet a veteran at forty of a full and interesting career, sat down. He leaned back into the red leather chair, and, with a little prompting, provided a captivating interview.

Born in Revere, Massachusetts, in 1919, Walter John received his elementary education in Somerville. He was a senior at Boston College when war was declared against Japan in 1941, and he volunteered for duty in the naval submarine corps.

"I had some interesting and sometimes frightening experiences, as did anyone who actively served during the war," related Father. Lighting the pipe that has become a "trademark" to PC students, he continued, "Cruising in a submarine off the coast of Balakpapan, the site of a key oil refining plant held by the Japanese in the North-

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

This is the last column of my fifth year of writing for Philip Morris and Marlboro. I have made it a custom in the last column of each year not to be funny. I know I have also realized this aim in many other columns during the year, but that was not for lack of trying. Today I am not trying. I am not trying for two reasons: First, because you are getting ready for final exams and in your present state of shock, nothing in the world could possibly make you laugh. And second, this final column of the year is for many of us a leave-taking, and good-byes always make me too misty to be funny.

For me the year ends neither with a bang nor a whimper, but with a glow—a warm, pleasant, mellow glow—the kind of glow you will find, for example, at the end of a Philip Morris or Marlboro.

It has been in every way a gratifying experience, my five years with the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, and I would like to take this opportunity to extend my heartfelt appreciation to these good tobaccoists, to assure them that the memory of their kindness will remain ever green in my heart, and to remind them that they still owe me for the last three columns.

And in these waning days of the school year, let me address myself seriously to you, my readers. Have I trod on any toes this year? Ruffled any feelings? Jostled any sensibilities? If so, I am sorry.

Have I occasioned any laughs? Chuckles? Sniggers? Mona Lisa smiles? If so, I'm glad.

Have I persuaded any of you to try Philip Morris and Marlboro? To taste that fine flavor? To smoke that excellent tobacco? If so, you are glad.

And now the long, lazy summer lies ahead. But for me summer is never lazy. It is, in fact, the busiest time of year. Two summers ago, for instance, I was out ringing doorbells every single day, morning, noon, and night. There was a contest, you see, and the kid in my neighborhood who sold the most bluing won a pony. I am proud to report that I was the lucky winner.

Last summer I was also out ringing doorbells every single day, morning, noon, and night. I was trying to sell the pony.

This summer I am not going to be out ringing doorbells. I am going to saddle the pony and ride to Hollywood, California. What am I going to do in Hollywood, California? I am going to write a series of half-hour television comedies called THE MANY LOVES OF DOBBIE GILLIS, and starting in October, 1959, your friends and mine, the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, are going to bring you this program over the Columbia Broadcasting System every Tuesday night at 8:30. Why don't you speak to your housemother and ask her if she'll let you stay up to see it?

And now good-bye. For me it's been kicks all the way, and I hope for you it hasn't been altogether unbearable. Have a good summer. Stay well. Stay cool. Stay lousy.

© 1959, Max Shulman

For us, the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, it's been kicks too, and we would like to echo kindly old Max's parting words: Stay well. Stay cool. Stay lousy.

DR. SCOTTI

Promotions for 18 members of the lay faculty at Providence College were announced last night at the final faculty meeting of the year by the Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president.

Four were made full professors: John J. Breen, Ph.D., of the department of business administration; Salvatore G. Scotti, D.Chem., (Rome) department of modern languages; William M. Stokes, Ph.D., department of chemistry; and Paul van K. Thomson, Ph.D., department of English.

Named Associate Professors were Gustave C. Cote, M.B.A., business administration; William J. Murphy, M.A., economics, and Henry M. Rosenwald, LL.D., modern languages.

Advanced to Assistant Professor were: Robert L. Deasy, A.M., history; Eugene H. Donahue, M.S.E., biology; Zigmunt J. Friedemann, A.M., political science; Edward A. Healy, M.S., chemistry; John R. King, A.M., mathematics; Robert L. Krasner, Ph.D., biology; Francis P. MacKay, M.Sc., chemistry; John R. Miner, M.A., history; Francis T. O'Brien, M.A., economics; George Sullivan, M.G.A., business administration, and William F. Viviani, M.A., modern languages.

Faculty Celebration To Mark Anniversary

The Very Reverend Robert J. Slavin, O.P., President of Providence College; Rev. Robert C. Reilly, O.P., Rev. Nicholas H. Serror, O.P., and Rev. Edward A. Vitie, O.P., are celebrating the silver anniversary of their ordination into the priesthood.

Father Slavin attended Providence College and St. Thomas Aquinas College, River Forest, Illinois, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. He took his Master of Arts from Catholic University of America in 1934. In June of that same year he was ordained to the priesthood.

Fr. Slavin began his teaching career in the philosophy department of DePaul University and later was named professor of philosophy at Catholic University, a post he held for 13 years. He was named president of Providence College on May 30, 1947.

Widely known as a leading figure in Catholic education, Father Slavin is President of the College and University department of the National Catholic Education Association, and a member of the Commission on Teaching Education of the Association of American Colleges and Universities.

Father Reilly of the English department was born in New York City. There he attended St. Ann's High School and later he graduated from Providence College in 1929. After his ordination in 1934, Father Reilly came to Providence College. Among his activities at the College, he has been moderator of the Alcibiades.

Father Serror of the biology department was born in Providence. He attended both La Salle Academy and Providence College. He graduated from Catholic University in 1934 and was ordained in the same year. Father Serror has been at Providence College since 1935.

He is the author of "Manual of Basic Bacteriology" and of other scientific journals. Among the various organizations with which he is connected are the American Public Health Association, Society of American Bacteriologists, Boston Bacteriologists, and the Massachusetts Public Health Association.

Father Vitie is a member of the theology department of the College. Born in New Jersey, Father Vitie attended Villanova High School in Columbus, Ohio. Father Vitie was ordained in 1934 and was graduated from De Paul University in 1949. Since his arrival at the College in 1954, he has been a class moderator.

CHRISTOFARO

The officers of the Rhode Island Alpha Epsilon Delta, the national pre-medical honor fraternity, were elected at a meeting last week. They are: John M. Christofaro, president; Paul F. O'Malley, treasurer; Edward A. Pollard, secretary, and Peter G. De Rosa, historian-reporter.

Flood And Dittrich Picked By Pollsters

Top vote getter in this year's Senior Superlative Poll was Patrick J. Flood, philosophy major from Zanesville, Ohio. Flood copped the class scholar award by the greatest majority in any of the eighteen various fields.

About 25 percent of the class voted in a fairly accurate cross-representation in the different categories.

Political science major George G. Dittrich from Englewood, New Jersey, was chosen senior most likely to succeed. Close runners-up were George E. Boyd and Leonard F. Clingham.

Baker Best All-Around Senior

Fellow political science major James B. Baker was picked best all round senior, just edging out William J. Clifford and Arthur G. Boucher. Clifford, however, was a double winner, capturing both the hardest-working senior and the most popular senior award. A close second in both of these categories was class president Edward J. Keegan.

Student Congress and Pyramid Players president Arthur G. Boucher was picked as class-comedian. Runners-up in this field were Richard J. Landino and Jack I. Winkelman in that order.

John A. Cacchiotti from Providence was named friendliest senior, based on his relations in and out of the classroom. Bill Clifford was again a close runner-up, with basketball ace Peter J. Schementi from Brooklyn, N.Y., also garnering a large vote.

Messier Best-Looking The best-looking senior award went to Donald W. Messier, education major from Waterbury, Conn. In this poll, James A. O'Neill and Daniel P. DeCesare were the closest contenders.

FACULTY MEMBERS HONORED

Seven members of the Providence College faculty were made "honorary members of the college family" in recognition of ten or more years of service last night at the final faculty meeting of the year.

The Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president, conferred upon the seven the honorary degree of Master of Arts. They included: Rev. Dominic L. Ross, O.P., M.A.; Rev. Cornelius F. Forster, O.P., S.T.L., S.T.L.R., M.A.; Rev. Anthony A. Jurgeleit, O.P., Litt.D.; Rev. Thomas H. McBrien, O.P., S.T.L., S.T.L.R.; Rev. Lloyd A. Mahler, O.P., S.T.L., S.T.L.R.; Rev. John J. Molloy, O.P., Ph.D., and Paul van K. Thomson, Ph.D.

THE COWL Editorials

Century Of Service . . .

Next month four members of the Providence College faculty will celebrate their silver jubilee. The V.P. Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., Rev. Edward A. Vitte, O.P., Rev. Nicholas H. Serror, O.P., and Rev. Robert C. Reilly, O.P., all have spent the past twenty-five years in the service of God and their fellow man.

The students of PC have greatly benefited from the dedication of these men. It is only fitting, therefore, that we pay some small tribute to those who have given so unselfishly of themselves.

The Cowl staff joins the rest of the school in extending to these men our most sincere thanks, and hearty congratulations.

Silver Gold . . .

The Silver Fox is the man of the year.

This bit of news should surprise nobody, except perhaps Bill Clifford himself, who has always preferred to work in his own quiet way, leaving the credit and the glory to others.

The staff of the Cowl congratulates Bill on his distinct honor, and wishes to thank him for his contributions to his class and to the school as a whole. We need not try to enumerate these contributions; they are familiar enough to anyone who knows this outstanding senior. And of course, EVERYONE knows Bill.

We wish Bill every success in the future. We are sure that he will continue to exemplify the PC gentleman: a courageous leader, and a sensible follower. PC is proud to number Bill Clifford among its graduates.

Gift Turmoil . . .

It is reported that only about one fifth of the seniors have contributed to the senior class gift fund. This is quite disappointing, in view of the fact that the entire class had a vote in the selection of the gift, and since their selection of an arch has been well publicized. The seniors seem to indicate a lack of enthusiasm in the support of the project.

In speaking of enthusiasm, moreover, it may be noted that the suggestion that each succeeding class donate a section of fence to the college has hardly been well received by underclassmen. Several younger students have stated that they are absolutely opposed to the idea of donating fence sections.

We feel that each class has the right to select its own class gift; they do not, however, have the right to impose their choice on other classes. They may recommend or suggest a certain gift, but they cannot expect any other class to be bound by their request.

We urge the seniors to support their class's drive. But we expect each succeeding class to decide its class gift independent of other considerations.

Let's Stay Afloat . . .

The Sailing Club of the College has received a total of thirty-five dollars in gifts toward the payment of their bills, which total over twice that amount. A donation of twenty-five dollars was presented by the Veterans' Club; the other ten dollars came from a faculty member who wishes to remain anonymous.

We are, of course, very happy to see that the school is not ignoring the plight of the Sailing Club. We have before expressed the hope that the athletic department grant varsity recognition to the sailors, thereby assuming financial responsibility for the club. This question is to be considered by the athletic council at a later date.

Meanwhile, the sailing team will take a collection among its own members and raise the balance of their debt from their own ranks. We commend, first of all, those interested parties outside of the club who donated to alleviate its plight; we also congratulate the sailors themselves for their dogged determination in their own behalf, and in behalf of the school.

And we hope, of course, that the athletic council will not hesitate to afford the navigators their much deserved recognition.

Entered as second-class matter, November 6, 1947, at the Post Office at Providence, Rhode Island, under the Act of March 3, 1879.
Published weekly, with school week during the academic year by the students interested in Providence College.

Current Cinema

WHAT'S PLAYING?

Albee: "Al Capone." Once again the scar-faced Chicago racketeer returns to the screen. Rod Steiger gives his usual excellent portrayal of the power and prohibition crazed dictator of the largest crime syndicate in the world. "Arson For Hire" is the fiery second feature.

Avon: "Crime and Punishment." Dostoevsky's study of the mind of the criminal held the reader's attention as does this feature starring Jean Gabin. The harsh backgrounds, the exciting music and the excellent plot combine to offer an excellent escape from exam worries.

Loew's: "The Mating Game." As Liz and Eddie depart from her life, Debbie Reynolds seems to hit home with this newest of the "courtin'" farces. Tony Randall is an excellent stooge for the offerings of the former Mrs. Fisher. In the co-feature, Anita Ekberg and Jack Palance costar in the revealing "The Man Inside."

Majestic: "Warlock." Westerners continue coming up-to-date in this latest Richard Widmark tale. Dorothy Malone and Henry Fonda combine with others in a star-studded presentation. What is lacking in plot is made up in acting experience. "Alaska Passage" is the chilly added attraction.

Strand: "Thunder in the Pass." Jeff Chandler and Susan Hayward combine in a better-than-par cavalry epic. It offers adventure and something unique to those who have never seen a Western movie before! —There must be some.

To the Editor:

It's easy to follow a winning team — we followed the basketball team to the N.I.T. It's not so easy to follow a losing team, but we follow and support the baseball team, which although it has had little luck this season, is still doing its best to represent Providence College. We resent and censure the COWL, the so-called "Voice" of the Student Body, for punching below the belt in its un sportsmanlike manner with the ill-advised headline and derogatory remarks directed at the baseball team in the May 13th COWL.

The Veterans' Club

To the Editor:

At last the COWL starts acting like a newspaper instead of an ever-restrained wet nurse. I hope that last week's baseball article shows a new awareness that athletes are no more sacrosanct than a controversial class gift or unpopular student government act.

Myself an athlete, I nevertheless believe that a team earns not only praise by its merits, but censure by its demerits. The baseball team suffered the latter result with justification, and suffered it often through its own "strenuous" efforts.

In one sentence, a team uniform doesn't mean "either praise me or keep your stupid mouth shut."

Sincerely,
E. K.

THE LIGHT HOUSE

Diplomats' Dilemma

By TOM O'HERRON

Last week's Lighthouse was somehow lost en route to the printer's, but fear not! The light that failed is at least glimmering again.

On November 28, 1958, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave the West an ultimatum to leave West Berlin within six months, or he would surround the city to the East German regime, thereby closing it to the West. We have now eight days remaining before the Russian threat is due to be realized.

Khrushchev told the West that the entire Berlin situation would have to be settled by a summit conference, to be held at once. Thereupon, the "Berlin Crisis," as the West was wont to call it, arrived on the scene.

West Not Frightened
None of the Western powers, of course, hastened to fulfill Mr. K's wish in this matter. The Secretary of State, at that time Mr. Dulles, replied to the Russians in an indirect manner which indicated the West's extreme distaste for the threats of the communists. President Eisenhower suggested that a summit conference could possibly prove quite fruitful if it followed a successful ministers' conference.

The Russians had to agree to this suggestion, or be faced with the taunt of insincerity. This week's Geneva conference is the result of the Russian acceptance of Eisenhower's invitation.

At Geneva, the "Big Four" powers are seated together, busily rejecting one another's plans for Germany. There is at least one cheery note about the conference, however: the delay caused by the Russian seating plan was ended after only a day, which is a new record for them in an international conference.

Deadlock No Surprise

The West should be in no way surprised that the conference is bogged down already. We are committed to a certain plan of action; our leeway within this commitment is short indeed. We have already rejected state to the Russian demand that we evacuate Berlin; we have several times rejected the Rapacki plan, whereby Russian forces would be withdrawn a few hundred miles, and our own forces evacuated from the entire European continent. Yet the Russians have presented these same plans at Geneva. In fact, the latest plan advanced by Russian Foreign Minister Gromyko is that the West evacuate all of Germany, while allowing that state to become a communist nation.

The West's hands are tied. We are bound to do what we feel is moral; we are bound to our promises and treaties; we are bound by conscience. The Russians, on the other hand, have no such handicaps. Therefore the Geneva conference, or any conference, for that matter, can go only as far as the Russians want it to go. We cannot change our basic position; they will not change theirs. Where do we go from here?

Ex Submarine Cmdr. . .

lands East Indies, we were moving rapidly the ships carrying oil along the coast, when suddenly we smashed into a sand bar.

"The submarine had run aground only a few miles from shore, in plain sight of any enemy aircraft. This was not the most desirable position in which to be," Fr. Heath added needlessly. "After many tense hours we finally managed to pull loose of the bar. Everyone was quite frightened, and it was one of the tightest situations in which I have ever been."

After two and a half years of submarine duty, the rapidly advancing naval officer went to Japan as a division engineer. Here he was responsible for inspecting and bringing back to Pearl Harbor six Japanese submarines in operative condition.

Landing in Sasebo, a large Japanese manufacturing city, the company of naval men to which he was attached found the area completely evacuated. All the people had fled to the woods in fear of the American fighting men. "Gradually the civilians returned, and it was an easy task getting them to work with us," he said. "As long as they were given a ride in a truck or a jeep, the people were completely contented."

Was Metallurgist

In 1946, with his mission completed, the Lieutenant commander, a veteran of seven submarines runs, left the Navy to work in his father's steel business. Inexperienced in the field of metal engineering, Walter Heath enrolled at Lehigh University to earn a degree in metallurgy.

"I recall," stated Fr. Heath, pausing momentarily, "my father said: 'Make your mistakes on someone else; and I promptly went to work for Crucible Steel Company in Syracuse. In July of 1948, while working in New York, I decided to join my two brothers and enter the Dominican Order."

While studying at the House of Studies in Washington, Fr. Heath lived with his two brothers, for the first time in eighteen years.

Ordained in 1955

Completing the prescribed course of study, he was ordained in 1955. He has since been assigned to the philosophy department at Providence College.

Rising slowly from the chair, I accompanied Fr. Heath from the lounge, and as we parted at the door, I watched him slowly disappear as he headed toward Donnelly Hall.

The many interesting experiences of Fr. Heath, student, naval officer, metallurgist, and priest, fascinating and varied, cannot be printed here because of lack of space. Such a life provides more than enough material for this type of a 'sketch,' and it is unfortunate that more could not be written.

best-dressed senior and class ladies' man, the only other double winner besides Clifford Jim Petrocelli, Jim Baker, and Don Bosworth were the closest runners-up in the best-dressed field. Behind Sykes in the ladies-man balloting were John J. Dwyer from Dudley, Mass., and Maurice Pollard from Marblehead, Mass.

Balloting for favorite professor was fairly spread out. However there was a tie for first place between Rev. Thomas Fallon, O.P., department of theology; and Dr. Paul van K. Thomson of the English department. Rev. Robert G. Quinn, O.P., of the education department was a close second.

NIT Was Best Remembered
For the first time in a poll

such as this, the best-remembered event was not the junior prom. Going away, the class nearly unanimously chose the recent NIT, many narrowing it down to the St. Louis thriller.

History was chosen as the favorite course, narrowly edging out both economics and art. Again, the aim in each senior's life's work received a varied response, most favoring success with a little money thrown in.

Marlon Brando was picked favorite male actor, with he-man John Wayne and Frank Sinatra close behind. Liz Taylor was picked as favorite actress, with Deborah Kerr and Kim Novak close behind.

Perry Como was just edged out as favorite male vocalist by Frank Sinatra. Close behind was Cousin Ritchie. Local celebrity Dakota Staton was chosen favorite female vocalist over Joni James and Tessie Brewer.

year who can improve this fine record."

Father Slavin was invited to give a critique of this year's Congress and express his hopes for next year. He praised this year's Congress for its initiative and expressed willingness to help, but he desires the Congress to remain independent listening only to the student body and to act with prudence.

NFCCS Bill Questioned

He questioned the propriety of establishing an extracurricular director between the NFCCS and all of the campus organizations and asked for a definition of the scope of his activities.

Father Slavin expressed the feeling that as this bill stood the Congress might be creating a Frankenstein and it would soon be a question of "the tail wagging the dog," for it would appear that in a sense the NFCCS director would be equal to the Congress.

The President said he wants the NFCCS but emphasized the fact that he did not want the SC to sacrifice some of its powers.

Provisions Clarified
Boucher attempted to clarify matters with the observation that the director would be a liaison man between the NFCCS and the regional and campus organizations, and would be accountable to the SC.

Fr. Slavin reminded the Congress of the problem of enforcing regulations by showing disapproval. He repeated his desire for a strong Congress dedicated to the welfare of the student body as a whole and noted that it has already done much good.

The Providence College president sketched out a broad outline of his hopes for next year's Congress as a stimulating and satisfying year. He concluded his remarks with the observation that, since next year's schedule will be a taut one, the opportunities for the Administration to grant free days will be few and far between, if any at all.

Lovely Assumes Office

Retiring president Boucher turned over the rostrum to incoming president Lovely who briefly outlined his plans for next year by the establishment of a five point program: (1) attendance, (2) introduction of useful legislation only, (3) a warning to all members to know their constitution, (4) effective use of committees and (5) the desire to make the student body well informed of Congress activities. He urged all members to "talk up" the Congress and asked for cooperation.

As his first duty as president he made the following committee appointments: Jim Carroll and Dave Duffy, beanle enforcement; John Hurley and Bob O'Connell, freshman week. Social chairman will be Joseph Lyons; Jack Sears, ordinances; and McAree will head the legislative committee.

LIGHT UP AND LIVE IT UP! 3 great cigarettes offer you 627 chances to win! So pick your pack—save the six wrappers—and get going! It's crossword puzzle fun and real smoking pleasure all the way!

ENTER OFTEN—HAVE FUN—AND WIN! But think carefully! This puzzle is not as easy as it looks. At first the DOWN and ACROSS clues may appear simple. There may appear to be more than one "right" answer. For example, the clue might read: "Many a coed will be given her best date's P.-N." Either "I" (PIN) or "E" (PEN) would seem to fit. But only one answer is apt and logical as decided by the judging staff, and therefore correct. Read the rules carefully. ENTER AS OFTEN AS YOU WISH. Good luck!

RULES—PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

- The College Puzzle Contest is open to college students and college faculty members except employees and their immediate families of Liggett & Myers and its advertising agencies.
- Fill in all missing letters . . . print clearly. Use of obsolete, archaic, variant or foreign words prohibited. After you have completed the puzzle, send it along with six empty package wrappers of the same brand from L&M, Chesterfield or Oasis cigarettes (or one reasonable hand-drawn facsimile of a complete package wrapper of any one of the three brands) to: Liggett & Myers, P. O. Box 271, New York 46, N. Y. Enter as often as you wish, but be sure to enclose six package wrappers (or a facsimile) with each entry. Illegible entries will not be considered.
- Entries must be postmarked by midnight, Friday, May 29, 1959 and received by midnight, Friday, June 5, 1959.
- Entries will be judged by the Bruce-Richards Corporation, an independent judging organization, on the basis of logic and aptness of thought of solutions. In the event of ties, contestants will be required to complete in 25 words or less the following statement: "My favorite cigarette is (Chesterfield) (L&M) or (Oasis) because . . .". Entries will be judged on originality, aptness of thought and interest by the Bruce-Richards Corporation. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in event of final ties. Illegible entries will not be considered. By entering all entrants agree that the decision of the judges shall be final and binding.
- Solutions must be the original work of the contestants submitting them. All entries become the property of Liggett & Myers and none will be returned.
- Winners will be notified by mail as soon as possible after completion of the contest.

Sheridan was shelled from the mound in the seventh as singles by Joe Cafarella and Riordan, a double by Howe, a homer by Muro, and a triple by Bassett accounted for the Black and White's final four tallies of the contest.

Against Springfield, Murray ran into pitching difficulties as all three of his mound operatives experienced notable control troubles. At the same time, however, the Springfield hurlers were finding the plate a little too often and the Murrays blasted them for 16 runs on three homers, by Cafarella, Riordan, and Muro; two doubles, by Mulvey and Guimares; and half a dozen singles.

Circuit Blows

Five of the Gymnasts' runs also crossed the plate on circuit clouts. Jim Havlick homered with one on and Jim Stone connected with two on board.

After jumping off to a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first, the Friars fell behind 5-3 in the third before Riordan's homer to left-center brought PC up to 5-4 in the last of the third. An almost identical four-bagger by Muro made the count 5-5 in the bottom of the fourth.

After Providence starter, Bob Plante, walked three men and threw two balls to the next batter in the sixth, he was relieved by Ron Doane who completed the free pass to give Springfield a 6-5 edge, before retiring the side.

Providence went ahead to stay in the last of the sixth on a walk, a single, an error and a three-run homer by Cafarella. This gave the home team a 9-6 advantage but they needed seven more markers in the eighth to wrap it up.

CARROLL'S COMMENTS

By JIM CARROLL

A long, disappointing and frustrating season drew to a close yesterday and as it did things were looking up on the Providence campus for baseball followers.

At long last, the drought had been ended; victory had been tasted. Twenty-six runs had been scored in the last two games, discounting yesterday's encounter with Assumption, and a starting pitcher had gone the distance, only the third time this season that such a thing had occurred.

Looking to next year with hopes of a more successful season, Coach Bob Murray has the nucleus of a strong team returning. His leading hitter, Joe Cafarella, is only a sophomore with two years of eligibility remaining. The mainstay of his infield, Don Mezenotte, also returns to the confines of Hendricks Field for another campaign.

Another infielder who has developed quite rapidly this season is Pete Muro and, along with upcoming freshmen Joe Evans and Al Izzi, the hard-hitting soph should contribute to an improved infield in '60. Barry Nicholas, a freshman, and Bob Souza, a sophomore, also appear ready to help solve Murray's infield problems come next year.

In the outfield, Denny Gaudreau joins Cafarella as a returnee. After finally breaking out of a miserable slump, the fleet centerfielder raised his average to a respectable figure in the last two weeks of the campaign. Seasoned Warren Howe will again be available for catching duties.

Junior Win Fairbanks and Sophomore Jim Brennan head the list of pitchers who will once more wear the flannels of the Black and White. Ron Doane, another sophomore rightlander, also remains among the list of eligibles.

Add to these freshmen Mike Trodden and Jim Hodgkins as well as two other yearling hopefuls, Milt Bell and George Freese, and a sizable, capable and effective pitching staff seems entirely possible. Everything considered, next year appears to hold much more in store for the Friar baseballers than did this year's drab and listless season.

As the athletic season draws to a finish, reflection on the accomplishments of the various teams reveal the tendency of Providence College representatives in the athletic world to continue upward in their rise to fame and fortune.

Whether on hill and dale, ice, the hardwood, wide range, cinders, clay courts, lush fairways and putting greens or closely cropped diamonds, the varsity forces of Providence College deserve a salute as the year glides slowly to a halt.

These athletes and their coaches are to be congratulated and commended for a job well done.

Joe Mullaney Inks Four-Yr. Contract

Providence College took out an insurance policy on its basketball future as the Very Reverend Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president, announced yesterday the signing of basketball coach Joe Mullaney to a new four year contract.

The new contract will go into effect at the termination of the present agreement, which still has a year to run, and will continue Mullaney in the coaching post through the basketball season of 1964.

One of the most successful of the nation's young coaches, Mullaney has guided the Friars to 69 wins against 30 losses over the past four seasons.

His 58-59 squad won 20 games, the most in the history of PC basketball, against seven losses. They became the first Friar team to be invited to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden, where they scored stunning upsets over Manhattan and St. Louis before bowing to St. John's, the eventual champion, in the semifinals.

Served at Norwich
Before coming to Providence, Mullaney served one year as head coach of Norwich University, where he won 18 and lost 6, making his overall record as a collegiate coach 87 victories and 36 defeats.

Born in Elmhurst, Long Island, 35 years ago, Mullaney first displayed his basketball skill at Chaminade High School, Mineola, L. I., where he starred for four years.

World War II interrupted his education and he served as an Air Force bomber pilot for four years, including a period as player-coach of the Smyrna Air Force Base team.

HC Captain

After the war he entered Holy Cross and captained the 1947 team which won the NCAA championship and vaulted the Crusaders into the national basketball spotlight. He played a season of professional basketball with the Celtics before starting his coaching career with St. Mary's Academy in Glens Falls, N. Y.

He is married and the father of two sons and makes his home at 346 River Avenue, Providence.

His brother, Brian, is a sophomore at Providence College, and another brother, William, is to enter with the freshmen next Fall.

Frosh Lose To URI, Quonset, End Season With 10-4 Record

The Providence College freshman baseball squad lost its last two games of the season, losing a 7-6 decision to the University of Rhode Island Ramlets last Saturday at URI and bowing 7-2 before the Quonset Flyers at Quonset Monday. The two losses left the Frosh with a 10 and 4 slate for the completed season.

COWLFoto by Petersen

CHANGING SIDES: The PC Frosh leave the field to take their turn at the plate in their last home game with URI.

Monday, the Flyers scored four unearned runs in the last of the eighth to break open a 7-2 lead which they held during the final frame. Jim Hodgkins started on the hill for the Friar frosh and turned in a very creditable performance. He worked 6 1/3 innings before being removed because of an arm injury in the seventh.

Izzy Doubles

Providence scored their two runs in the first and seventh innings. Al Izzy doubled to score Barry Nicholas, who had reached first on a single, for the young Friars' first tally.

Quonset took a 2-1 lead in the last of the second and held it until Wally Minot singled in the seventh to drive in Costella with the tying run for the PC nine. Quonset didn't let the frosh have their lead for even an inning, as they scored in their third run against Hodgkins in the last of the seventh to take a 3-2 lead.

George Frese came on in relief of Hodgkins when he suffered his arm injury in the seventh. Frese was the victim of non-support in the eighth as the Flyers took advantage of three errors to score their final four runs of the contest.

Rallies Fall Short

Saturday, the freshman nine put together two run rallies in the eighth and ninth innings, but fell one run short in losing to the URI yardings by a 7-6 count. Dave Ricerette turned in a four-hitter for URI but three errors and numerous bases on balls allowed Providence to turn these into six runs.

Diamondmen Out Of Doldrums; Top Springfield, 16-11; Smash Rhody

Bassett Goes Route; Stickmen Shine Twice

The varsity baseball forces of Coach Bob Murray did an about face last Thursday afternoon at Hendricks Field and defeated Springfield College by a score of 16-11. After losing their first eleven games, the diamondmen suddenly jelled, showed the ability which they had possessed all year, edged one of the top teams on their schedule, and followed up with a 10-3 win over URI at the same scene Saturday.

THE DIAMONDMEN concluded their 1959 season at Hendricks Field yesterday afternoon, defeating Assumption College 8-0 behind the 6-hit pitching of senior Bob Plante. Senior Dan Mulvey led the Friars at the plate with two singles and a triple.

Frank Bassett, who had been hampered by a sore arm ever since early season when the Friar hurlers were forced to tune up in chilly weather, went all the way on the hill against the Rams to notch his first victory of the season. After experiencing control troubles in the early stages of the game and allowing the Rams to score once in the first frame and twice more in the third, Bassett settled down to blank the invaders from Kingston on five hits and one walk over the rest of the route.

In the top of the first, three walks and a sacrifice fly scored the first run of the game for State. The rally was cut short, however as Roger Pearson was nabbed trying to go from second to third on the sacrifice fly.

Rams Take Offensive

Still ahead by a count of 1-0, the Rams took the offensive again in the third. Tom Harrington drew a free pass and after Pearson's double, Harrington crossed the plate on a single by Bob Peltier. Pearson scored on an outfield error and another walk put runners on first and second with only one out, but Pete Muro robbed Tom Verdi of a line drive base hit and flipped to Red Maloney at second to double up Peltier and end the inning.

Providence scored their first two runs in the last of the fourth. Dan Mulvey reached first on an infield error, Jim Riordan was hit by a pitched ball, and a walk to Denny Guimaraes loaded the bases. Pete Muro popped out, but when Mulvey threatened to dash home after the catch, the Rhody first sacker fired the ball over the catcher's head and both Mulvey and Riordan crossed the plate. A combination of two walks, a single by Mulvey, a pair of errors, and a double by Red Riordan gave the Friars a 5-3 lead and hastened the departure of John Dromgoole from the mound. After John Sheridan came on in relief, Warren Howe squeezed in Riordan with the Friars fourth tally of the inning.

Tennis Team Closes Season With Defeat By Hartford U.

The Providence College tennis team finished its first season with a 5-4 loss at the hands of the University of Hartford, at the Connecticut team's home courts. It was the Black and White's fourth loss in as many matches this season.

COWLFoto by Tenn

With most of the team returning next year and with a record that fails to tell the outstanding performances turned in against some of the strongest tennis squads in New England and College ranks, the outlook is very promising for the team's second year of varsity competition.

In their match with Hartford, Jack Devereaux won his singles match, defeating Baker, 12-10, 7-5. Dick Ernst defeated Brison in his singles encounter, 6-4, 6-3; and Jim McLean topped Drotar by scores of 6-1 and 6-2. Leo Connerton was edged in the closest singles match of the day, losing to Stein, 6-3, 10-12, 6-3.

The other two Friar singles performers, Brian Sullivan and Dean Johnson lost to Bronson and Yunez by scores of 6-3, 6-1 and 6-4, 6-2.

In the doubles matches, Sullivan and Ernst captured the only victory for the Friars combining to defeat Yunez and Brison 9-7, 6-3.

In the other two doubles encounters, Connerton and Devereaux lost to Baker and Bronson, 6-2, 6-2; and Johnson and McLean were defeated 6-2, 7-5 by the combined forces of Drotar and Stein.

Horridge Elected By Spike Shoe Club

William Horridge has been recently elected president of the Spike Shoe Club, which is composed of Friar trackmen. The elections were held in connection with the club's annual Communion breakfast, which followed a Mass celebrated in St. Joseph's Chapel.

Arthur Hewes was elected vice-president, Ed McNamara was elected secretary, and Gus Scannapieco was elected treasurer. All the officers are residents of Providence.
